

<Annotator Name>

in the situation going to the library...

arg0	action	arg1	arg2	adv
PERSON	WANT	<table><tr><th>rei</th><th>action</th><th>arg1</th><th>arg2</th><th>adv</th></tr><tr><td>TO</td><td>FIND</td><td>BOOK</td><td>---</td><td>---</td></tr></table>	rei	action	arg1	arg2	adv	TO	FIND	BOOK	---	---
rei	action	arg1	arg2	adv
TO	FIND	BOOK	---	---

... motivates ...

arg0	action	arg1	arg2	adv
PERSON	LOOK	---	---	FOR BOOK

The statement above is a reasonably clear, entirely plausible general claim and seems neither too specific nor too general or vague to be useful:

Disagree

Lean toward disagree

Maybe

Lean toward agree

Agree